Brooklyn Museum Announces Registration for Gallery/Studio Program Summer Semester 2005

The Brooklyn Museum's Gallery/Studio program offers a summer of fun with challenging studio art courses for students ages six to adult. Participants develop art skills through studying the Museum's permanent collections and the special exhibition Monet's London while experimenting with a variety of materials and techniques. Exciting classes in drawing, painting, printmaking, sculpture, mixed media, and photography (new this semester) are available. Each class has eight two-hour sessions. Summer semester classes are offered on Wednesdays, Fridays, and Saturdays. All levels of experience are welcome.

Scholarships are available for students ages six to eighteen (application deadline is June 5). High-school students can apply for the Work-Study program (application deadline May 23), which allows students to attend a Gallery/Studio class free of charge in exchange for assisting Museum instructors in classes with students ages six through nine.

Registration forms and payment in full must be received (by mail, fax, or in person) by June 26. Early registration is encouraged, since classes fill up quickly. To obtain class schedules or registration, scholarship, or work-study applications, call (718) 501-6230 or visit www.brooklynmuseum.org/education/gallery-studio/. Tuition is $130 for Members, $145 for non-Members and $15 for scholarship recipients. Members receive priority handling, on a first-come, first-served basis, June 9-19. Registration forms for non-Members will be processed in the order in which they are received, June 20-26.

Gallery/Studio Exhibition
